Have you ever accessed the ANLTC Web site?

If you have accessed the site, do you have any comments about it?

Will make a point of checking it in future.
Excellent site
Very clear, easy to use. Well laid out.
It would be useful to have course presentations posted on the site

Comments

Travel in term time is not on.

In general, do you feel ANLTC courses are relevant to your work?

Comments

Very affirming of work skills and a great confidence boost always

Depends on your previous experience

All courses are relevant, some more than other, depends which area you work in. I only attend those that I feel I will gain most from.

What course(s) would you like to see in the future?

Visits to other libraries or lectures on special libraries.

Continue with Web advancements/advice Best work practices Health in the work place (check list) perhaps once a year?

Knowledge management Managing VLE's

Management techniques Web design

I would like to see more courses on teaching skills. Also courses such as the Eresources one in Galway on 19.5.04, which was a mixture of presentations and discussions. In some courses, especially hands-on ones, there isn't always time to discuss how we are operating in our home libraries.

Repeats of some past courses to give staff who missed them an opportunity to attend. Perhaps a survey to assess which ones would be in demand.

Apart from its role as an organiser of training, what other roles do you think ANLTC should have?

Liasing with colleagues from other libraries. Library Assistants don't get much chance for this except at INULS and it makes a big difference meeting staff you are dealing with personally

To encourage further co-operation and engagement between staff in the various libraries

I think teh ANLTC should probably keep to training

I think ANLTC should continue to concentrate on training. I would be concerned that it would spread itself too thinly if other roles were taken on.

We would welcome any other comments you have

I think ANLTC is very well run. Well done to all concerned. Your hard work is appreciated. Carol

ANLTC does a great job - keep up the good work!

I prefer to attend Dublin courses. Maybe the same courses that are held in Dublin can also be held outside and visa versa

John - please don't enter me in the draw

I think that the courses organised by ANTLC are relevant, very informative and well organised. The courses provide an opportunity to get together in small groups to liaise and network with each other.
